

Together we can

As Mayor Kirk Caldwell's administration prepares to sunset, the Office of Housing team expresses heartfelt gratitude for the opportunity to have served the community in addressing affordable housing and homelessness.

While the devastation of the COVID-19 pandemic continues to be felt by all of us, we are so grateful for the resiliency and seemingly unbounded energy and empathy of those serving our vulnerable community members, both those who are houseless and those still housed. By continuing the work together with aloha, we are confident that our community will one day be able to say that everyone has a safe place to sleep, a place to call home, and community of welcome.

Mahalo nui loa.

About Us

The Mayor's Office of Housing (hereafter HOU) established in 2011 by charter, is a two-person office including one executive director and one secretary. In addition, since December 2018 an AmeriCorps VISTA (Volunteers in Service to America) – managed under the Mayor's Office of Climate Change, Sustainability & Resiliency – has been assigned to HOU full-time as a housing communications specialist.

HOU – described in Section 6-106 of the Revised Charter of the City & County of Honolulu is responsible for ensuring that city, state, and federal agencies, along with private, nonprofit, and community organizations, and individuals work collaboratively to address affordable housing, senior housing, special needs housing, and homelessness. The HOU website serves as the main public repository for links to key documents and resources. The city Departments of Community Services (DCS) and Land Management (DLM) are particularly close collaborators with HOU in implementing many of the programs emerging from the city strategy and plan, along with the Departments of Customer Services, Facility Maintenance, Parks and Recreation, Planning and Permitting, and the Honolulu Police Department (HPD). Key state collaborators include the Governor's Coordinator on Homelessness and the State Department of Health, especially the Behavioral Health Division. Federal collaborators include the local offices of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and Veterans Affairs (VA), as well as the United States Interagency Council on Homelessness. In the non-governmental sector, Partners in Care – the Oahu continuum of care recognized by HUD – is our major collaborator. Virtually all agencies working in homelessness on Oahu belong to PIC.

Major Impacts

In alignment with leading national organizations and research on homelessness, the city believes that the only permanent solution to homelessness is housing, with an effective system of support services include, but are not limited to those that address mental health and substance use disorder. Such an approach requires multiagency collaboration in both plan development and implementation consistent with the charter mandate for HOU. The city's strategy for addressing homelessness is formed around five components:

All of the specific programs of the city addressing homelessness and housing align with this strategic framework.

The overall impact of the city's strategy and programs around homelessness – based on data from the annual Homeless Point-in-Time Count mandated by the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development – include:

- 48% reduction in family homelessness from 2015 – 2020 (-1,119 persons)
- 45% reduction in homeless children (-587 children under 18)
- 24% reduction in veteran homelessness from 2015 – 2020 (-111 persons)
- 10% reduction in total homelessness from 2017 – 2020 (-511 persons)

The greatest area of challenge is with the unsheltered homeless population, who are most visible to the general community. From 2015-2020, the unsheltered homeless population increased by 21% (+407 persons).

In housing, the major impact of city initiatives is seen in the following major data points:

- In both 2017 and 2018 (the years for which data is available from the city Department of Planning and Permitting), the city exceeded Mayor Caldwell's goal of 800 units of affordable housing annually permitted (defined as 120% area median income (AMI) and below). In 2017, 1,095 units were built or permitted, including 249 accessory dwelling units (ADUs). In 2018, 1,306 units were built or permitted, including 222 ADUs and 199 rental units for 60% AMI and below.
- Since 2016 the city – under the city Department of Land Management – has acquired, completed, or has in development to add 1,328 housing units which will double the city's affordable rental housing portfolio to 2,508 units (as of July 2020). These units prioritize households with 50/60% AMI and below income levels. Additional special needs housing has also been acquired by the city Department of Community Services.

Hawaii's Coordinated Homeless Crisis Response System

Strategic Plans and Actions

In 2017, HOU led the development of the systems map addressing homelessness for Hawai'i, resulting in "Hawai'i's Coordinated Homeless Crisis Response System," which was endorsed by the state, the local office for HUD, and Partners in Care. Despite advances, this map still serves as the overall guide for Hawai'i's system, especially on O'ahu. In April 2019, DCS, DLM, and HOU presented, "Addressing Homelessness, a Strategic Approach," to the Honolulu City Council, summarizing the overall strategy and specific actions of the city in addressing homelessness. In November of 2019, HOU published, "Addressing Homelessness Together," a pamphlet summarizing the city strategy with highlights of key programs. In April 2020, HOU worked with key collaborators (including DCS, the city Department of Emergency Management, Partners in Care, and several state agencies) to release, "Addressing Homelessness in Light of COVID-19," outlining the goals, strategies, and key actions to keep the community healthy, especially the homeless population. These resources, along with other documents available on the HOU website, form the overall strategy of the city in addressing homelessness and housing.

Success is measured by steady declines in the Homeless Point-in-Time Count, eventually reaching "functional zero," wherein homelessness truly becomes "a rare, brief, one-time experience" ("Home Together: The Federal Strategic Plan to Prevent and End Homelessness" [2018], USICH.) Action and goals for specific subpopulations leads to more effective progress and lessons learned which can be applied to other subpopulations. On O'ahu, progress has been especially evident in the subpopulations of families (-48%), children (-45%), and veterans (-24%) since 2015, and the overall system has a 10% decline in homelessness from 2017-2020.

Four Key Strategic Actions:

- Support a robust homeless crisis response system by actively collaborating with federal, state, city, and private agencies; integrating coordinated entry into city programs; enhancing community engagement; and, implementing and funding evidence-based programs such as Housing First and Rapid Rehousing
- Engage those experiencing homelessness quickly, and provide ready alternatives from the street by having interagency outreach efforts (e.g., Health, Efficiency, Long-term, Partnerships [HELP]), psychiatric street outreach, legal support for Assisted Community Treatment, mobile and fixed hygiene facilities linked with case management (e.g., Revive & Refresh Mobile Hygiene program and the Pūnāwai Rest Stop), POST/HONU outreach/shelter navigation programs, and 24/7 transportation to POST/HONU, shelters, and other services

- Expand, scale, and sustain supportive housing and affordable housing, especially at the 50-60% AMI level and below by fully utilizing the city's Affordable Housing Fund, expanding the city's portfolio of affordable housing units and special needs housing, implementing project-based housing vouchers, fully utilizing federal housing voucher funds and other permanent housing funds, returning empty units and illegal rental units to the market, expanding ADUs, and fully implementing transit-oriented development, and the city's affordable housing requirements and incentives

- Ensure housing success and prevent future homelessness by addressing long-term affordable housing needs (as summarized above), providing culturally appropriate housing alternatives, providing culturally appropriate mediation and problem-solving services (e.g., Ho'oponopono), ensuring connection to personalized supportive services (e.g., employment and training services, mental health services, and substance use disorder treatment), and providing longer-term shallow subsidies to address income gaps
